MAJ. STEDMAN AT GIBSONVILLE

Made Telling Speech There Yesterday.

Answered Arguments of District Attorney Holton's Speech At the Court House Friday Night—Defended Democracy's Record In State Matters—Discussed the Tariff Question In An Able and Effective Manner.

Major Charles M. Stedman, Democratic candidate for Congress in the Fifth district, delivered the second speech of his campaign yesterday afternoon in the town hall at Gibsonville.

The crowd that turned out to hear him numbered from 150 to 200 and they gave the major a cordial reception from start to finish, showing a hearty appreciation of the telling points that he made in the course of his speech and applauding him heartily on several occasions.

A part of Major Stedman's speech was devoted to the answering of United States District Attorney Holton's speech as made in the court house in this city night before last. He took issue with the District Attorney in several important particulars. For one thing, he called the attention of his hearers to the fact that Mr. Holton in discussing North Carolina political affairs had entirely overlooked the days of reconstruction and the days of 1898. He also ably refuted the argument of Mr. Holton that the Democratic State administration had been extravagant. He showed that the various Legislatures had made appropriations to meet pressing needs and he especially praised them for liberal provision made for the State's unfortunates. Nor did he omit to dwell on national issues. He discussed in an able and effective manner the injustice that lies in continued protection of industries that have long since outgrown their infancy period. He has long been a believer in tariff reform and is always at home in discussing this question. Among other things in this connection that he discussed was the relation of the tariff to wages, showing that there is nothing in the contention that a lower tariff will mean reduced wages for the laboring man.

The meeting was presided over by Mr. M. L. Fogleman and the speaker of the afternoon was introduced by Squire Berry Davidson.

A number of prominent Democrats accompanied Major Stedman to Gibsonville, including his campaign manager, Mr. A. W. Cooke, and Democratic County Chairman E. G. Sherrill.

Other appointments of Major Stedman are as follows:

THE PROGRAM TO BE GIVEN BY MARINE BAND

The Organization Preparing To Give Some of Its Biggest Efforts Here.

A more elaborate program could not be offered by a band than that which the United States Marine Band of the National Capital will present at the Auditorium on September 15, under the direction of Lieut. W. H. Santelmann. In its entirety, it will be as follows:

Overture, "Tannhauser—Wagner.
Suite, "L'Arlesienne"—Bizet|
Serenade—Larcombe.
Cornet solo, "Le Reve d'Amour", Haydn-Millard—Arthur S. Whitcomb.
Excerpts from "Carmen"—Bizet.
Invitation to the Dance—Von Wever.
Hongarian Rhapsodie, No. 14—Liszt.
Dixie.
Songs of the Plantation—Chambers.
Star Spangled Banner.

The Tannhauser Overture is in itself a masterpiece in the hands of Lieut. Santelmann, and when to this is added the "L'Arlesienne Suite," the "Invitation to the Dance" and the "Hongarian Rhapsodie" there is little left to be desired by a public. Certainly the Marine Band is preparing to give some of its biggest efforts to the people of Greensboro.

A number that will strike a happy chord in the people will be the "Songs of the Plantation" which will bring back to memory days "befo'de war" to many in the audience. The soloist, Arthur S. Whitcomb, is a cornetist of artistic ability, a man who is thoroughly familiar with his instrument and who has been a member of the Marine Band for a number of years.

BEFORE JUDGE BOYD.

Several Matters Passed Upon in United States Court Yesterday.

In United States court yesterday Judge Boyd sitting in bankruptcy passed on several matters pertaining to bankruptcy cases. McCoy Moretz, of Hickory, was adjudged a bankrupt on his own petition. The liabilities are about $5,000 and the assets, subject to exemptions, about the same. The matter was referred to W. C. Ervin, referee, of Morganton.

Samuel H. Adams, who was declared a bankrupt some time ago, filed a petition asking for a discharge in bankruptcy. The matter was referred to Referee J. E. Alexander for an examination and report as to whether this should be done.

An order was entered in the matter of the Ferguson Contracting Company, bankrupt, authorizing C. P. Harman to proceed with a suit for personal injuries which was instituted in Davidson Superior court some time ago. The referee or trustee is to be a party to the suit. Some time ago the plaintiff was enjoined from prosecuting the suit and the above is a modification of the former order. The reason for allowing the suit is to ascertain what amount, if any, the plaintiff is entitled to recover.

Interesting Events At Public Library.

Two interesting events in the library yesterday were the arrival of the Statesman's Year Book for 1910, a reference work which was very popular in the library service last year, and the first day's use of the weather bureau map and the Cotton Region bulletin received from the local office in Charlotte and posted in the reading room.

On Friday, Sept. 16, at 4 p. m. a story hour for little children will be given in the public library by Miss Ethel Gray and all children between the ages of 6 and 10 are invited to come and share the good time in store. The librarian asks mothers to please remember this date and hour for the pleasure it promises the little folks.

THE INTERURBAN WILL COME HERE

Provided Citizens of Greensboro Want it.

And Will Show Proper Spirit of Encouragement—Mr. Z. V. Taylor, Just Back From Northern Trip, Talks Entertainingly of Big Project—Line from Charlotte To Anderson To Be Completed Within Eighteen Months.

"You can say that the interurban line of the Piedmont Traction Company will come into Greensboro, provided the citizens of the city give the proper encouragement to the company," said Mr. Z. V. Taylor yesterday afternoon in reply to a question put by a reporter. Mr. Taylor has just returned from a trip north where he has been for several days on business connected with the great enterprise.

Mr. Taylor stated that the Piedmont Traction Company would put in operation the line south of Charlotte before attempting to connect Charlotte and Greensboro. The company now owns the local plants in Greenville and Anderson and the surveys for the track between the two cities have already been made. Orders for the rails and other equipment have been placed and the work of construction will begin in a few days. Bids for the rolling stock for the entire line between Charlotte and Anderson have been called for and the contracts will be closed shortly.

The plans are to build the line between Greenville and Anderson and Charlotte and King's Mountain. The former line will be in operation within six months and the latter within eight months. Then the connecting link between King's Mountain and Greenville will be built. This will be completed within eighteen months.

As soon as this is completed the company will turn its attention to the line between Charlotte and Greensboro. Whether the line would be built or not Mr. Taylor could not say. However, he declared that the company was ready and anxious to bring the additional facilities the line would give to Greensboro if the proper encouragement was shown by the citizens of the city.

"Very few people realize the magnitude of this enterprise, nor the benefits it will bring to the section through which it passes," said Mr. Taylor. "The equipment will be first class in every respect and the company will be prepared to give not only prompt and efficient passenger facilities, but it will handle both local and through freight to and from all points through which it passes."

RETAILING CHARGE AGAINST NEGRO MAN AND WOMAN

Police Claim Wiley Lambert and Lizzie Brodnax Sold Liquor.

Wiley Lambert and Lizzie Brodnax, both colored, were arrested last night on the charge of retailing. The police raided Lambert's house on Gilmer street near Gaston and the Brodnax woman's house on Gaston near Gilmer. In the former they found 4 pint bottles of whiskey and in the latter's a half-gallon jug of whiskey. They will introduce evidence to show that the accused kept liquor in their houses to sell and not for their own use.

The charges will be investigated before Judge Eure Monday morning.

EXCITEMENT AT WHITE OAK

The usual quiet in the village of White Oak was somewhat disturbed Friday afternoon by the finding of a complete suit of clothes, excepting hat and shoes, lying on the bank of the swimming pool near the pond. Of course, the first thought was suicide and the word quickly passed around that some one had probably ended his life by plunging into the water.

No one recognized the clothes, which were well nigh worn out, and as no one was missing in the village, the conclusion was formed that the clothes had been worn by someone other than a resident of the quiet little village.

The bathing pool was drained, but no body was found in the bottom. Parties then began fishing in the main pond for the body, thinking that the person had left his clothes at the pool in order to create the impression that he was lying at the bottom of the pool. The search was in vain, for despite thorough work no discovery was made.

As soon as it was found that no one had drowned himself the excitement subsided, but the residents are still puzzled to know who left the clothes by the pool of water and why they were left there.

THE LYCEUM COURSE.

Mr. S. H. Bryan Believes It Will Become a Permanent Institution In Social and Civic Life of City.

Mr. S. H. Bryan, of the Alkahest Lyceum System, returned to Greensboro last night from a trip to Danville where he placed a series of first class attractions with the Y. M. C. A. He states that Charlottesville, Lynchburg, Danville, Reidsville, Greensboro and practically every town on the Southern railway as far as Atlanta is on the Alkahest circuit this year.

"The lyceum spirit is growing," said Mr. Bryan, "because the lyceum is worthy and insures to the people attractions of strength and merit. But the lyceum as a movement looking to the entertainment of the people is only beginning to take shape.

The International Lyceum Association which is regularly organized, and which is now in session at Winona Lake, is gradually giving strength to the character of the lyceum. Every community ought to have a lyceum building—a forum where the people could gather to see and hear the great artists and speakers of the country. This within itself would mean, in time, a liberal education to the people, and any movement which looks to the mental quickening and inspirational uplift of our fellows, aught to be encouraged.

"Yes, the lyceum course planned for Greensboro, I find on my return has been going forward successfully, and I feel will become a permanent institution in the social and civic life of your people. The local management will doubtless have an announcement for you in a few days."

MANY CHILDREN ATTEND SCHOOL

Where to Put Them is a Problem.

School Board and Supt. Mann Making Every Effort To Give Every Child a Comfortable Seat—Will Be Some Days Before the Exact Enrollment Can Be Given—Some of the Plans Mapped Out For Makeshifts.

The attendance in the city schools this year is far beyond the expectations of the school board and the members, together with Supt. Mann, are sorely puzzled as to the best way to meet the problem of providing accommodations for the children. However, parents need not fear that ample accommodations will not be made for every child, said Chairman Ireland to a reporter last night.

For the past week the attendance has increased every day and on the opening day every seat available was taken. Therefore there has been some congestion and in consequence the work has not progressed as it otherwise would. The board states that accommodations of some kind will be arranged this week and by next Monday everything will be going smoothly.

The school board has secured the use o fthe parlors of the Eagle Hose Company and the Hook & Ladder Company, adjoining the Davie Street school and these will be fitted up within the next three or four days. A passage way connecting the school building with the halls of the fire companies will be erected and the children can go directly from the school building into the rooms. These rooms are on the second floor of the fire station and the children will not have to go any nearer the horses than were they in the Davie street school. Therefore parents need have no fear of their children getting hurt in the building. The halls are better lighted and ventilated than the rooms in the school building and besides the halls are nicely fitted up. Mr. Ireland stated that the firemen promptly proffered the use of the halls when the situation was explained. This will accommodate the overflow at the Lindsay street school as well as the Davie street school.

The Lee street building will be ready by Wednesday and the overflow at the Normal will be accommodated. The overflow here has been perhaps larger than in any other school. Then there is the overflow at the Asheboro street school to be looked after and the board is negotiating for the use of St. Andrew's church until the addition at Asheboro street is completed. It is probable that the church will be secured and relief furnished. The commercial department of the High School will be put in the store house at Lindsay street.

When the arrangements as above stated are carried out the overflow in every school can be accommodated, with room for other students possibly. Then and not until then can the exact number of students be ascertained.

The increased facilities will require four additional teachers. The afternoon grades which have been maintained to accommodate the overflow, will supply four teachers, this making eight teachers for the fire halls, the church and the Lee street building.

Chairman Ireland stated that in his opinion many parents kept their children from school last year on account of the crowded condition of the schools and when they learned that the facilities had been increased they sent them to school. Consequently the attendance this fall is considerably larger than it was expected to be. He states that no one need keep their children at home on account of the crowded condition for every child will be accommodated.

Murderer May Be Charged With Arson.

Deputy Insurance Commissioner W. A. Scott came in last night from Wilmington where he has been making an investigation in the Holly case. Holly is charged with the murder of a boy named Ed. Cromwell and is also suspected of burning a residence to cover his crime. It is likely that he will be charged with this crime also. Holly is in jail without bail on the murder charge.

THE PEOPLE ALL

In Chorus Cried, Give Us Newbro's Herpicide.

This word of late has been in everyone's mouth, and many are wondering what the word signifies, though no one has yet been found, who will deny that NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE does the work. Well, for the information of thousands of people who like to know all about a good thing, we would say that HERPICIDE means, a destroyer or killer of "Herpes." Now "Herpes" is the family name of a disease caused by various vegetable parasites. A similar microbe causes dandruff, itching scalp, and falling hair; this is the microbe that NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE promptly destroys; after which the hair grows. Sold by leading druggists. HARD TO FIGHT LA FOLLETTE.

Trouble is it's Impossible to Get People Away from Him.

Richard Lloyd Jones in Collier's Weekly

It is not easy to campaign against this worker for "God's patient poor." A venerable lawyer at Hudson, Wis., a one-time partner of Senator Spooner, recently complained that you could not get the people away from La Follette. "Now, there is Einar Halverson," he said; "Einar is a good man. He is a good Norwegian man. I told him La Follette was no good. He said he didn't believe it. I told him something that La Follette had done that was wrong. He said he didn't believe it; that he didnt' think La Follette would do such a thing. I proved it; and when I proved it to him he rubbed his head and just said, 'I don' know, but if La Follette did dot, it must ban right; dot's all."

There's an afternoon newspaper in Madison that prints its humor in the editorial columns. Its editorial opposition to La Follette is one of the funny things in the State. Goaded by the Milwaukee Journal for several weeks to show some reason for its opposition, it at last came forward with a double column leaded editorial in which it eulogized Lincoln as the foundation of the Republican party. It did not, however, remind its readers that Lincoln used the Republican party to emancipate men rather than to enrich a group of men. Nor did it recall the fact that the heroes of the stalwart faction voted the entire Wisconsin delegation against Lincoln in the Chicago convention of 1860—a vote that ever since Wisconsin Republicans have been trying to forget. It did recite a long list of more or less colorless politicians and office-holders—a party roll-call—concluding with the the name of a distinguished parliamentary debater, John C. Spooner, and nisisting that Robert M. La Follette be retired from public life because his going to the Senate had so bewildered Senator Spooner that Senator Spooner had resigned.

A Reliable Medicine—NOT A NARCOTIC

Mrs. F. Marti, St. Joe, Mich., says Foley's Honey and Tar saved her little boy's life. She writes: "Our little boy contracted a severe bronchial trouble and as the doctor's medicine did not cure him, I gave him Foley's Honey and Tar in which I have great faith. It cured the cough as well as the choking and gagging spells, and he got well in a short time. Foley's Honey and Tar has many times saved us much trouble and we are never without it in the house." AMONG THE HOMECOMERS.

New York Times.

As the sun-burned crowds filed through the train gates in the different stations there occurred all sorts of meetings and partings. One 15-year-old girl was an object of attention all the way down one of the train platforms because of the big bunch of golden rod she carried. Catching sight of a tall dignified-looking man with a high hat and a full brown beard, who was standing outside the train gates, she waved the golden rod at him frantically.

"Oh, papa, see what I brought you," she shouted. "I picked them on purpose yesterday."

Suddenly, just as the man was about to reach down and pull her up into his arms an expression of dismay passed over her face and she almost dropped the golden rod.

"Oh, papa," she exclaimed, "I've left my automobile coat hanging up in the hotel closet. What in the world shall I do?"

The proud father did not seem to be greatly troubled at the information. He picked the girl up in his arms and huged her with a vigor greatly to the detriment of the golden rod.

"I don't care if you've left a hundred automobile coats as long as I've got you back," he said between the kisses.

They presently went to the telephone booths to claim the automobile coat by long-distance.

Shoemaking Secrets

The most important part of a shoe—wear considered—is the sole. The best old-method tanned sole leather is none too good for this purpose, yet many manufacturers use quick tannages of cheap leathers and "fill" the soles with glucose and other adulterations to cover defects. The insole in some shoes is cut from such thin stock that it cannot be channelled to receive the stitch when the upper and the welt are sewed on. A piece of canvas is often substituted for the leather, channelled up to hold the shoe together.

There are no secrets about the Craddock Shoe. The soles, insole (5) and outer sole (4), come from the very finest, toughest and the most expensive sole leather money can buy. The insole is as heavy as lots of makers use for outer soles.

The counters (3) are the best one-piece counters made from the best sole leather. Only one grade of lining—the best—is used all the way through. The top lift (2) of the heel in the Craddock Shoe costs more than the whole heel and top lift of some other shoes made at this price. Vamps (7), tops (8), facings and stays (9) are all cut from pieces of the finest leather.

Counters are often made of canvas stiffened with glue. They cost less than solid leather, but the heat from the foot crumples them. Toe boxes, too, can be made of canvas instead of leather, and sometimes for linings a cheap grade is substituted away down inside where you can't see. Heels are almost always made of pieces of sole leather fitted together in glue; sometimes the very worst of scrap is used, topped with a fair grade of "top lift". These are the parts the man who wears the shoe never sees. He buys these on faith. There are lots of other secrets in the shoe business.

The Craddock Shoe is not "skinned" in any particular. There are no hidden weaknesses to develop after the shoe is bought. There are no dishonest savings or profits—taken from worth and wear.

The Craddock Shoe, made in all leathers, sold for $3.50 and $4.00 everywhere, will wear 30 days longer than any other shoe at the same price.

Aunt Sally's Money

By M. QUAD

Copyright, 1910, by Associated Literary Press.

Aunt Sally Henderson was the widow of a farmer. She was a bustling little woman with a babyish look. She kept a hired man on the farm and a hired girl in the kitchen, but she was a boss and a worker as well. She was kind to wayfarers and a liberal contributor to the unfortunate, and she was ready to take advice on all points but one. There she was singularly obstinate and seemingly foolish.

During his lifetime Farmer Henderson had been the victim of a bank failure. True, he lost only $17 in it, but it was a lesson to last him the rest of his days and to be handed over to his wife when he departed. She had been a widow for three years, when a sister died and left her a thousand dollars in cash. There was then a private banker in the nearest village, and he was spoken of by all as God fearing and strictly honest. There were people who had known him from infancy, and they vouched that there was not a blot on his character. When Aunt Sally got her thousand she was advised to bank it. She declined. After she had been talked to by her neighbors, her minister, the justice of the peace and others she did consent to drive into the village one day and take a look at the banker. He looked good to other folks, but after five minutes Aunt Sally turned from him and said:

"I wouldn't trust that man with a single dollar!"

"But why?" was asked.

"Because he toes in when he walks. You take my word for it, he'll turn out to be a rascal."

She was laughed at, but she said no toe-in banker for her thousand dollars. She'd keep it in the house. Of course she was warned of the danger of robbers, but she smiled in her baby way and replied that they could come on as fast as convenient. In a month it was known pretty much all over the county that Aunt Sally Henderson had a thousand dollars in the house. Some said it was buried in the cellar, others that it was hidden in the garret, others still that it was in a trunk under her bed. With everybody talking there was bound to be results.

It was a big tramp who came limping along the highway at sundown one day and talked of his hunger and afflictions. Besides his limp he had his left arm in a sling. No friends, no home, nothing in the future for him. He wept as Aunt Sally questioned him. He was fed and given quarters in the barn. At midnight he came out of the barn without his limp or his sling and raised a kitchen window and stepped in. As he stepped in he also stepped into a beartrap yawning for Weary Willie, and the jaws closed on one of his legs. He was a big man, and he made a fuss according to his size. Aunt Sally dressed and came out of her bedroom and had him carried out on the lawn. There he was tied up and the trap removed, and she said she would see him later. After breakfast his case was attended to. The hired man brought up some blue beech gads, and while he laid them on Aunt Sally stood by and sang "Shall We Gather at the River?"

The next comer floated in from the village. He was traveling with a circus as a seller of pink lemonade. Although he was making 500 per cent on his liquid he sighed to get rich faster. Hearing of that thousand, he walked out to cooper it and buy some cold storage stock. No kitchen window for him. In the first place he was too tony, and in the next he found a parlor window open. It looked good to him. He went in. The same beartrap was there. Aunt Sally had simply shifted it. The victim had a good voice on him, and he used it to arouse the house. He was taken out and laid on the grass as the other had been, but when morning came his punishment was a bit different. The rain barrel at the corner of the house was full, and he was lifted up and ducked until he had swallowed about half the contents and was nearly drowned in the rest. It was the hired man and girl who did the ducking.

The last attempt on that $1,000, so far as heard from, for the widow still lives and keeps it in the house, was a pretty fair plot. A stranger called and introduced himself as a minister, who wanted board in a quiet place for a month while he composed half a dozen sermons and rested up. He toed in, but Aunt Sally took him in and determined to watch. One afternoon at the end of the second week she had to spend an hour at the barn with a sick horse, and he was left to finish a sermon on the sin of dancing and circus going. When she came back to the house he was hunting among the cobwebs of the garret for an old oyster can holding a thousand dollars. He claimed to have gone up there to be nearer heaven, and his claim was not disputed. He was tied up, however, and lowered down the well. It was a deep well and a cold well, and he had no fur coat. He was left there for three hours, while the widow sang "Beacon Lights" for him. He was then hauled up and thawed out with a thorough good licking, handed his manuscripts and headed out into the world. He had flashes of heat and cold as he went, and he heard Aunt Sally singing "Watchman, What of the Night?" until he was half a mile away.

And two days later the good banker, the honest banker, the banker who toed in as he walked, walked off with all the deposits in bank.

It's getting time Greensboro was doing something decisive in the direction of securing the interurban. If it is worth having, it is worth going after.

A Peruvian aviator has flown to a height of 8792 feet. High flying is safer than low flying, strange as it may seem at first blush.

Mr. Roosevelt talks a lot about his "new nationalism." But here's the best of platforms, "a new nationalism with Teddy devoting himself to his tree-chopping and his hay-cutting."

The Democratic members of the Ballinger-Pinchot investigating committee reported in favor of ousting Ballinger. Even if Ballinger were innocent of every charge made against him, he ought to resign. Give a dog a bad name and his popularity is done for.

J. B. Moissant, an aviator, predicts that in five years aeroplanes will be flying across the ocean in twenty-four hours. That will be just 125 miles an hour. But there was a time when people refused to believe that travel at the rate of a mile a minute was possible.

If one is an aviator long enough one will pay the cost. Charles K. Hamilton, who, we believe, is the man who gave airship ascensions here several years ago, fell at Sacramento Friday and is believed to be internally injured. If it wasn't for the law of gravitation aviation would have a better future.

Down in the Ninth the Republicans are making Candidate McNinch say what he's going to do about "patronage." They don't care a hurrah about how their man is going to stand on the great public questions of the day, but they've got to be shown what he's going to do as touching the loaves and fishes.

For the discussion of rules to prevent the loss and damage of freight a large number of prominent railroad men, including the general managers of practically all of the lines of the southeast, traffic officials and representatives of the various railway associations in that territory, together with officials of a number of eastern and western roads met in Atlanta Friday. One way to prevent damage to freight would be to damage it less. All freight not being made out of rubber, it can't stand all kinds of rough treatment without showing it.

To think that staid old London should be furnishing the world its most sensational murder trial.—Exchange.

We have observed that a murder is sensational just to that degree that the home city of the murderer, the murdered or both, is large. London murders are the most sensational, New York's murders come next, those of Paris next and so on down the line. A murder of a resident of a small place is never played up in the papers. And, of course, that is because the facilities for making the most of it in print are not available. Murders, in other words, are like everything else—they just can't make any impression on the world without advertising.

Bradstreet's for yesterday said:

Reports of the week have been largely favorable including, as they have, better weather and crop reports, better demand for fall goods by jobbers' and retailers' markets, more cheerful reports from some branches of the iron and steel trade, some resumption of textile mills until recently shut down, a reduction in the number of idle cars and a shading in prices of leading farm products due to better crop reports and large movement leading to the hope of a resumption of export trade. All these have combined for a rather more optimistic feeling in general trade and industrial lines but in financial circles there is little apparent gain in activity or strength.

There can be no fault found with that report. It is decidedly encouraging. It indicates cheerful and effective hustling all along the line. It is the time of year for cheerful reports anyway. Who could look on the dark side when the brading days of fall are just around the corner?

South Carolina Democrats are having an awful rucus over their second primary for Governor. Cole L. Blease and C. C. Featherstone are the candidates and the Columbia State, which in the first primary favored McLeod, local optionist, against Featherstone, prohibitionist, is in the second primary a warm champion of Featherstone on personal grounds. The other day it presented a cartoon of Blease in which he was pictured as a buzzard. The cartoon greatly offended the Blease supporters and the State is receiving quite a sprinkling of discontinuance orders. But it has plenty of subscribers and then some and every time a man stops, his letter is used as a text for some additional showing up of the unsavory record of Blease. All in all the contest is one of the hardest fought of the year. And outsiders can safely assume that whatever the State advocates is that which it conceives to be to the best interest of South Carolina.

Teddy To Tour Texas.

Cecil Lyon, chairman of the Republican State executive committee who is here conferring with local Republican leaders announced today that ex-President Theodore Roosevelt will tour Texas next March. Col. Lyon will meet Col. Roosevelt in New York next January and the itinerary for the latter will then be arranged.

OLD TIME LONDON.

The Days When Men In the Pillory Were Pelted With Eggs.

London in 1700 was a comparatively small city of about 600,000 inhabitants, the rough and ill kept main roads to which had been but slightly improved since Tudor times. The ghastly spectacle of many of the trees on the Southwark road bending under their burden of hanged men had indeed been slightly modified, but none the less the decomposing heads of "traitors" still filled the atmosphere about London bridge and Temple Bar with myriads of baneful microbes.

Our immediate forbears were evidently not overparticular about sights and smells. They were accustomed to see men sitting in the pillory pelted with rotten eggs and possibly included among their immediate circle not a few who had been deprived of their noses and ears for expressing too freely their opinions, political and religious.

The drains were in an appalling condition. The innumerable churchyards were so full of coffins that they often projected through the turf. Bear and bull baiting, dog fights and boxing matches were attended even by royalty as late as 1820, and five years later all the "dandies" in London were paying high prices to stand in the carts round Tyburn to behold twenty-two of their fellow creatures hanged for misdemeanors which in our time would be punished with a few days' imprisonment.—London Saturday Review.

The Camel—"I can go without water for two weeks." The Giraffe—"Well, a little drink goes a long way with me, too."

DEATH OF WELL KNOWN PHYSICIAN

Dr. R. K. Gregory Passed Away Yesterday Afternoon At Age of Seventy-Four Years—Survived by Wife and Two Children—Funeral From Residence At 10 O'clock This Morning.

Dr. Richard K. Gregory died yesterday afternoon at 1:45 o'clock at his residence, 224 West Market street, following an illness of several weeks. He was seventy-four years of age, forty years of his life being spent in Greensboro. Until his health began failing several years ago Dr. Gregory was considered one of the ablest physicians in the entire state.

Dr. Gregory was born in Brewer's Bluff, Va., in June, 1836. He is survived by his wife and two children, a grown son living in Emporia, Va., and a daughter, Mrs. Lou Reid, of Atlanta, Ga. Mrs. Reid is quite ill with fever and will be unable to attend the funeral.

Throughout the civil war Dr. Gregory served as a surgeon in the Confederate army and through his ministrations relieved the pains of many a sufferer on the battlefield. Soon after the close of the war he came to Greensboro where he built up quite a reputation both as a physician and as a surgeon.

The funeral will be held from the late residence this morning at 10 o'clock, conducted by Rev. Melton Clark, pastor of the deceased. The choir of the First Presbyterian church will have charge of the music and the members are asked to meet at the residence this morning at 10 o'clock. Following the funeral services the remains will be taken to the station and carried to Statesville on the noon train, the interment to take place in the Statesville cemetery this afternoon.

The following will act as pall bearers from the residence to the station: Messrs. C. C. Hinkle, R. M. Rees, L. Richardson, Gilmer Wharton, John W. Petty and John T. Thacker.

Caught a Blockader.

Deputy Marshal R. L. Blaylock returned yesterday from Rockingham county where he arrested George Muse, colored, on the charge of blockading. Muse was carried before a magistrate and bond was given in the sum of $300 for his appearance at the December term of United States court. He lives near Mayfield.

Sumner's Ready Reply.

Charles Sumner when in London gave a ready reply. At a dinner given in his honor he spoke of "the ashes" of some dead hero. "Ashes! What American English!" rudely broke in an Englishman. "Dust you mean, Mr. Sumner. We don't burn our dead in this country." "Yet," instantly replied Mr. Sumner, with a courteous smile, "your poet Gray tells us that 'Even in our ashes live their wonted fires.'" The American was not criticised again that evening.—Argonaut.

A Glorious Part.

"At last," exclaimed the low comedian, "I have a part that just suits me."

"Good," said the first old lady. "You are the only actor I ever knew who was thoroughly satisfied with his part. What is it?"

"Oh, the part isn't much, as far as that goes, but I'm supposed to be a burglar, and I break into a pantry and eat a real meal at every performance."—Chicago Record-Herald.

He Worked On.

Wife—George, this burning of the candle at both ends means an untimely grave. It is nearly 12 o'clock. Come to bed. George—But I'm doing this night work in order to find money enough to buy you a birthday present. Wife—Well, if you will persist in working of course I can't stop it. Good night, dear.

Arrive This Morning and Spend Sunday Here.

John Robinson's Big Shows will arrive this morning and spend Sunday here, preparatory to giving two performances here tomorrow, one in the afternoon and one at night.

A good circus makes all the world akin—at least that portion of humanity within the reach of any big circus. It always has been thus and always will be as long as human nature is human nature.

A boy never forgets his first circus—neither does a girl forget it. It is one of the milestones that mark the altogether too fleeting years of childhood's career of innocent and harmless pleasure. What would a circus be without a band? What would it be without a clown?

The circus clown dates his origin back to the beginning of the circus itself, and from time immemorial he has been one of the most important features. During the growth and development he has by no means been left behind. He is funnier now and can do more tricks than ever before. In the old days one clown sufficed to satisfy the demand for the show-goers, but now it takes twenty-five for the John Robinson Shows. Nowadays the clown who could not do anything but grin and drive a donkey that played a tattoo with his hind heels on the dashboard of a little cart could not get a job. He must be versatile or look for another position.

The acrobatic work is only a small part of a clown's performance. There is scarcely a humorous phase of life which the clowns do not touch or a heroic feature which they do not burlesque. This always delights the crowd, for one of the things which pleases an American audience is to see some one ridiculed.

It is the rough and tumble and apparently furiously abusive acts, knocks and slaps of the clown that invariably create the most laughter. The more they kick, pound and beat and club each other over the head, face or back, the more pleasing it seems to be.

It has been one of the best circuses on the road for years, but what would its vast array of circus talent amount to if it were not for the tireless work of the "funny fellows?" The presence of the clowns is essential. The burlesque clowns, the rube clowns, the short clowns, the tall clowns, the graceful clowns, contingent of more than twenty-five with John Robinson.

Without the clown, the petite, pretty equestrian could not have his brief visit, the acrobats could not get their second breath, and the musicians could not catch a moment's rest. Originally a "filin" to cheapen the salary list and to serve the above purposes, the circus fools features with a circus and command liberal salaries. They are no longer used to fill in. All the clowns will be here with the big shows on tomorrow, Sept. 12.

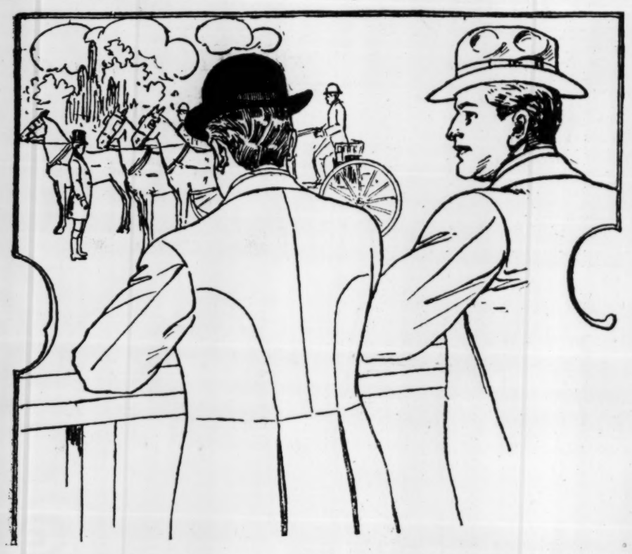
Great Circus Tomorrow.

Two complete performances will be given by the John Robinson's ten big shows here tomorrow. The first at two in the afternoon and the second at eight in the evening. A street parade said to be larger than all others will take place at eleven o'clock, traversing the principal streets. In addition to the regular circus parade will be presented a number of wild west and far east performers, with their horses and conveyances.

The performance is on the somewhat different plan, introducing a real wild west and far east, making a new and pleasing addition to the circus of the past. A number of high salaried American and European acts have been secured and only the best in the circus world will be presented.

Miss Olga Reed, the principal lady equestraine with the big show is one of the daughters of the famous old family of riders. Her father, mother and grandparents all internationally famous as riders.

With the combined John Robinson's circus, menagerie, wild west and far east is a genuine Cossack troupe, the Zernewskys, under the direction of Prince Lucci. They are conceded the greatest riders in the world. They are nomadic, semi-barbaric and come from the fastnesses of the Russian steppes. They know no leader, not even the czar, and the latter is wise enough to let them alone and allow them privileges not extended to other natives. Their riding is as fierce, reckless and wierd as themselves.



At the horse show, where beauty and fashion meet, there you will find the worn by the exclusive, the stylish, the respected. It rounds out the careful dresser with matchless and distinctive style. Its quality is equal to its pleasing appearance.

FORTUNE IN JUNK AND BEES.

Pearson Has Surplus of $50,000 and 100 Houses to Rent.

Memphis Commercial-Appeal.

While many a place can boast a miser or a hermit, the subject of this sketch, Pat Pearson, of Starkville, Miss., not only posseses these traits in combination, but traits of charity, kindness and cleverness along with them that makes him a strangely peculiar character.

Born of poor parents, orphan at a tender age, reared by a man who cared not for his education, yet was strict to the point of cruelty, it is no wonder that his Irish blood so early asserted itself, and he ran away to seek his fortune in the wide world. Uneducated, he could do only the hardest work; hence, seeing the need of an education, he put his whole earnings into the schooling of his sisters. Following where work was to be had, he was led through every State, from the Gulf to the Great Lakes and through a good portion of Canada.

However, when the war ended, he wended his way homeward, digging ditches, building railways, cutting timber as he came. Arriving at Starkville, he established a little home for himself and sisters and worked in earnest, determined to be a rich man—and having seen so much waste, he determined to get rich from the waste of others.

He always made it a rule to carry home what he could pick up, brick, scrap lumber, old iron, bottles, paper rags—in fact, everything that was cast off was his portion, and now he has more than a hundred houses to rent, all built from what he gleaned from the scrap piles.

Pat Pearson is a rich man, yet his labors have not ceased. Bent with the weight of toil of almost 70 years, he works from 13 to 14 hours a day gathering junk and swill. The former he adds to a pile already covering half an acre to a a height of 12 feet, while the latter he feeds to his hogs, which as fast as fattened, he sells to the butcher.

Pat has a great penchant for bees. From the sale of an old plow, which was given him and which he repaired, he bought a hive of bees. These have now increased into something like 300 hives. Never a day passes but what, as he goes forth on his expeditions of work and junk gathering, he carries several bottles of the golden honey, which always finds ready sale; and he always returns loaded down with junk or swill.

To illustrate with what energy this man works: When nearly 50 years old, desiring to be able to transact all of his own business, he learned to read and write. He is now on "Easy Street," lives in a beautifully appointed and modern home, and besides the possession of a surplus of $50,000, he has a monthly rental income from a hundred housese.

State of North Carolina,
Department of State.

To All to Whom These Presents May Come—Greeting:

Whereas, It appears to my satisfaction, by duly authenticated record of the proceedings for the voluntary dissolution thereof by the unanimous consent of all the stockholders, deposited in my office, that the Greensboro Pepsi-Sola Bottling Company, a corporation of this State, whose principal office is situated in the City of Greensboro, County of Guilford, State of North Carolina (W. Now, Therefore, I, J. Bryan Grimes, Secretary of State of the State of North Carolina, do hereby certify that the said corporation did, on the 22d day of August, 1910, file in my office a duly executed and attested consent in writing to the dissolution of said corporation, executed by all the stockholders thereof, which said consent and the record of the proceedings aforesaid are now on file in my said office as provided by law.

DESPAIR OF DOCTORS.

The "Scientific" Baby Who Never Had an Ache or Pain.

Detroit Journal.

Because the doctor did not put on his seven league boots and start the minute he heard there was a sick child in the neighborhood the woman who had summoned him accused him of inhumanity. But the doctor said he was nothing of the kind.

"I am not anxious to respond," he said, "because the parents will not do anything I tell them to and will get a doctor more to their liking later in the day. How do I know? You as good as told me yourself. You said the youngster was a scientifically raised baby; never knew a kiss or a cuddle or a germ or a tummyache until the present attack. Scientific babies are the despair of old-fashioned practitioners. The kind of babies he is used to are those that depend mostly upon mothering to make them well. If an old-fashioned baby bumps his head or stubs his toe or mashes his thumb just let the mother kiss the bruise and it will stop hurting. Having been brought up on such nonsensical notions and believing in them still to a certain extent there is no denying that in treating the new-style baby the old-fashioned doctor is not a great success."

CLEANLY WOMAN.

Erroneously Thinks by Scouring Her Scalp That She Cures Dandruff.

Cleanly woman has an erroneous idea that by scouring the scalp, which removes the dandruff scale, she is curing the dandruff. She may wash her scalp every day, and yet have dandruff her life long, accompanied by falling hair, too. The only way in the world to cure dandruff is to kill the dandruff germ, and there is no hair preparation that will do that but Newbro's Herpicide. Herpicide by killing the dandruff germ, leaves the hair free to grow as healthy Nature intended. Destroy the cause you remove the effect. Kill the dandruff germ with Herpicide. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

"Why do you watch the baseball bulletins so carefully?" asked one woman.

"My husband is an enthusiast over the game," replied the other. "I make it a rule never to discuss household or millinery expenses with him except on days when the home team wins.—Washington Star.

FATHER AND CHILD MAKE UP.

Frank Work and Daughter Fell Out Over Extravagance.

New York American.

Frank Work, the aged and eccentric milionaire, who, on Christmas Eve, 1905, ordered his daughter, Mrs. Burke-Roche, from his home because of her extravagance, and later publicly disowned her on account of her marriage with Auriel Batonyi, recently divorced, has forgiven all, and there has been a complete reconciliation.

Mrs. Burke-Roche, whose beauty and vivacity have given her rank as a social leader for a number of years, is now in Newport, but just a few days ago she visited the home of her father, at 13 East Twenty-sixth street. Details of what took place at this interview were denied to reporters yesterday, although it was admitted that the famous quarrel between the milloinaire and his daughter has ended.

Mr. Work has grown very infirm, it is said, and on this acount Mrs. Burke-Roche is expected to return to his home to live when she leaves Newport.

The quarrel between Mrs. Burke-Roche and her father over money furnished as a great sensation for society as did her marital tangles. When he ordered her out of his house Mr. Work declared in an interview that her extravagance amounted to an expenditure of $375 a day.

Some months after this, when it became known that Mrs. Burke-Roche had married Batonyi, Mr. Work is said to have stopped the handsome allowance she had always enjoyed. This is borne out by affidavtis filed in the Batonyi divorce suit, in which the defendant said she had been compelled to live on a small allowance made by the executor of the estate without her father's knowledge.

For Quake Zone.

A man named McGrath was living in San Francisco at the time of the earthquake.

A day or so after the catastrophe a friend in New York wired him, asking: "Is there anything I can do for you?"

"Yes."McGrathrepedassoonas li,

"Yes," McGrath replied, as soon as he could get a wire through. "Send me a rubber house."—Saturday Evening Post.

Don't Break Down.

Severe strains on the vital organs, like strains on machinery, cause breakdowns. You can't over-tax stomach, liver, kidneys, bowels or nerves without serious danger to yourself. If you are weak or run-down, or under strain of any kind, take Electric Bitters the matchless, tonic medicine. Mrs. J. E. Van de Sande, of Kirkland, Ill., writes: "That I did not break down, while enduring a most severe strain, for three months, is due wholly to Electric Bitters." Use them and enjoy health and strength. Satisfaction positively guaranteed. 50c at Fariss-Klutz Drug Co.

Cold Calculation.

"What did that member of the legislature say when he offered him money?" asked his political boss.

"He said that his conscience forbade him to take it."

"H'm. I wonder if it's one of those consciences that spoil a deal or merely make it more expensive?"—Washington Star.

Two Short Words,

"The best," well describes the satisfaction every user feels when he tries Vick's Croup and Pneumonia Salve for his head or chest cold, or his croupy child. It is a comfort, a cure and a joy. Try a jar and get your money back if not pleased.

Between Neighbors.

"That thermometer I bought is a fraud. It hain't brought on no extraordinary weather."

"You've got the wrong idea, Peleg. A thermometer won't act like a lightning rod."—Washington Herald.

Mrs. Jacob Wilmert, Lincoln, Ill., found her way back to perfect health. She writes: "I suffered with kidney trouble and backache and my appetite was very poor at times. A few week's ago I got Foley's Kidney Pills and gave them a fair trial. They gave me great relief, so continued till now I am again in perfect health." Holton Drug Co.

Hubbubs—"That's a scrawny looking goat your next door neighbor has." Subbubs—"On the contrary, he's a very valuable goat. My wife tells me he ate up every bit of the wash we had out on the line this morning."

A Man of Iron Nerve.

Indomitable will and tremendous energy are never found where Stomach, Liver, Kidney and Bowels are out of order. If you want these qualities and the success they bring, use Dr. King's New Life Pills, the matchless regulators, for keen brain and strong body. 25c at Fariss-Klutz Drug Co.

AN UNUSUAL HONEYMOON

Former Boston Girl Tells of Experiences In Her Alaska Home.

Boston Post.

"Alaska is the coming country and it is the only place for young people with little capital and plenty of energy."

So says Mrs. William James, the charming young matron who has just returned from the Far North and who is visiting her parents in Medford for a year after seven years' experience in the gold land.

Her enthusiasm for the new country is unbounded and her reminiscences are the interest of most of the social gatherings in Medford since she arrived a week or two ago.

"Seven years ago I landed at Valdez, on the Alaskan Coast. My fiance met me and we tramped 23 days into the country along a winding trail until we came to what was my future home, Fairbanks. There we were greeted by the miners and the wedding ceremony was performed by the Rev. S. Hall Young, one of the old missionaries who settled in Alaska and have done much good.

"It was an interesting trip and a picturesque wedding. My husband's miners had prepared a wedding supper for us and the luxury of the occasion was real cow's milk. It cost a dollar a glass and we had five glasses. Then we had caribou steak and beans, and beans—and beans. To cap the climax, we had a salad made by one of the few women neighbors.

"Mr. James was prospecting on Fairbanks creek at that time and we started in to keep house in a one-room cabin. That was all there was in the town at that time and I had one of the few spring beds. Under the bed was pantry, closet, storeroom and half a dozen other rooms.

"There were about 3,000 persons there, not 100 of them women. There was one public cafe, kept in a tent by a colored man. Beef was an unknown quantity and caribou steak cost $1.50 an order. Eggs raised on the ranch were $6 a dozen.

"Two bits—25 cents—was the smallest piece of money in circulation up there, and that is one of the conditions that remain unchanged. It about equals a nickel here. Wages were high. Anyone could get a dollar an hour, and now they get 80 cents an hour."

Miss Mary Patterson left yesterday for Stuart, Va., to be with her cousin, Miss Susie Sparger, who is ill in a hospital there.
